Summary of Experience

Whether behind a camera, in the courtroom or in the war room, Rick has been providing litigation support to industry-leading law firms for nearly 25 years. His work has taken him to 15 countries on five continents and to venues ranging from state courtrooms to U.S. District Courts to the Supreme Court of the United States. Rick is an experienced hot-seat technician who has provided presentation and war room services for more than two dozen trials, evaluating venue requirements and setting up audiovisual presentation and computer network technology in courts from coast to coast. He is skilled in the preparation and presentation of exhibit databases, transcripts, video clips, graphics and other demonstratives for trial, and is proficient in the use of trial presentation, productivity and design software including OnCue, TrialDirector, Microsoft Office, and Adobe Creative Suite. Over the years he has provided a full spectrum of legal audiovisual services including deposition recording, courtroom playback, editing of testimony for trial, day-in-the-life, site inspections and mock jury presentations.
